

UNIVERSITÀ DEGLI STUDI DI MILANO

Prof. Sergio Splendore informed the Ethics Committee of the University of Milan that he is going to conduct the following research “TASKs (trust, authority, sense and knowledge)”.

The aim of this study is to analyze interactions of journalism and journalists with citizens and media users, in light of changes that have been happening in the contemporary media ecosystem, where platforms govern interactions between news providers, content and users.

The Ethics Committee of the University of Milan issued a favourable opinion on the project.
